Profuse Decorations and Large

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Exports from Newport News for the month was made on this side of Hampton Roads, exports during September last year being valued only at $735,243. The export of coal from this port to the Mediterranean is growing materially, and during the past month cargoes aggregating a tonnage of 20,000 tons went out for Naples and Genoa. During the month ninety-eight vessels sailed for foreign ports.

LAND AT CAPE HENRY FOR FORTIFICATION

Condemnation by Government
Will Proceed in United States
Court in November.

MAY BE DECIDED BY JURY

George Pilcher Becomes City
Attorney, Succeeding Colonel
George C. Cabell.

Norfolk, Va., October 1.—The condemnation of land at Cape Henry needed by the government for fortification purposes will proceed in the United States Court here in November.

Two methods of procedure are open to the government, one by condemnation commissioners and the other by jury. The government will elect to have the condemnation by a jury of twelve freeholders selected from various parts of this judicial district, which embraces all of the counties in the eastern half of Virginia, from Norfolk to Alexandria, including Petersburg and Richmond.

United States District Attorney D. Lawrence Granger has not yet been advised from Washington to begin with the proceedings, but expects these advances at any time. The government will notify him as to the specific land it wishes to acquire, and he will institute the proceedings.

Mr. Granger said to-day that the condemnation will be brought either before the regular jury late in November or a special jury late in November after the regular jury has been adjourned.

The trial before jury will be as in any other civil procedure. The jury will be carried by the marshal to view the land, and all evidence on both sides will be heard in court.

Appeal Is Possible.

When the Schmale tract was acquired for navy-yard purposes on the Portsmouth side of the river there was first a condemnation commission. The award made by this commission was set aside and a jury then made an award, which settled the case. There can, of course, be an appeal from the jury findings.

Mr. F. M. Monroe, condemnation case there were commissioners, but when the government some time ago started condemnation proceedings to acquire the Greenleaf Johnson property on the south side of the river, Elizabeth River, this was by jury. Later the proceedings were dropped when the government sought to assert its right to the property without condemnation. The government lost, and the case is now pending. There will likely be a jury condemnation later on.

The government has appropriated $150,000 for the acquisition of land at Cape Henry for fortification purposes. If the condemnation figures are more than $150,000, then there will have to be a larger appropriation by Congress.

Nearly 1,000,000 tons of coal were dumped at the three coal piers on Hampton Roads during the short month ending last night, the exact figures being 955,465 tons.

The Norfolk and Western Railway led with 420,942 tons, the Virginia Railway following with 300,585 tons, and the Chesapeake and Ohio followed with 263,934 tons.

The totals during September, 1912, were: Norfolk and Western, 404,016; Chesapeake and Ohio, 282,492; Virginia, 242,277. Both the Norfolk roads made substantial gains over last September a year ago.

The Virginia Railway during last month excelled all its past performance, the road never before having dumped as many as 300,000 tons in a month.

The dumpings over the piers here do not represent the entire coal movement at Hampton Roads, however, each one sending coal to other points and both Norfolk and Western and Chesapeake and Ohio hauling great quantities West to the Great Lakes and elsewhere.

REMOVE IRON BAR FROM ESCAPE HOLE

Two Prisoners and Their Friend
Lodger Gain Their Freedom
From Alexandria Prison.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Alexandria, Va., October 1.—Following an iron bar from a window in the south end of the police station, eight feet by eight, two prisoners and one lodger with ease escaped from that institution between 7 and 8 o'clock this morning. The order for the removal of the bar was given by the warden, an acceptable improvised ladder. Footprints on the whitewashed walls indicated that the men struggled some little time before they reached it. The opening through which they escaped was only ten by twelve inches in size.

The place where they landed is in the market alley, and is passed by hundreds of pedestrians. No one, however, saw the men gain their freedom.

One of the men who escaped gave the name of George Williams, aged twenty-six years, and who claimed Baltimore as his home. He was being held on a suspicion of knowing something of a suspected robber of a North Carolinian yesterday. The other prisoner was Carmelo Nalls, of this city, and the only charge against him was drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The third man was simply a tramp, who obtained a night's lodging at police headquarters, and there was no charge against him.

The men before taking French leave ate a hearty breakfast, which had just been furnished them by Station Keeper Gill. In less than an hour afterwards he went into the corridor and found the men had vanished. An alarm was sent out but they have not yet been apprehended.

Robbery Reported.

W. H. Benson, of Randall, N. C., reported to the railroad detectives that while on a train for the South yesterday afternoon between here and Washington, either he lost or had stolen from his baggage a box of tools, a railroad detective took in custody three suspects, one of whom escaped from police station this morning. The suspects are being held over to the authorities of Alexandria county.

The police here are looking for a firebug who has recently started a number of incendiary blazes, one being a stable at 4 o'clock this morning. The other was a small blaze last night, which was extinguished by a policeman.

A fire occurred last night about 9 o'clock in the engine-room of the Petersburg Builders' Supply Company's plant on North Market Street, which was fortunately extinguished by the department before much damage had been done. Most of the damage resulted from the water thrown on the hot engine.

The fire was caused by a short circuit in the wiring. The fire from spreading, Mayor Robert Canham is the president of the Builders' Supply Company.

Yesterday morning Walter Lunde, a farmer of Chesterfield County, discovered that one of his horses had been stolen from his stable, and nothing the direction in which the horse had been taken. He hitched up his buggy and went in pursuit. After going some distance he came up with his horse, which was being ridden by a negro. Mr. Lunde shot once at the negro, but missed him. He had better aim on the first second time, but this time the gun failed to fire, and the negro abandoned the stolen horse and escaped.
